

PROPOSE FEDERAL PROHIBITION BUREAU

CAROL SUED BY FORMER MORGANATIC WIFE

"ZIZI" ASKS BIG SUM FROM ROYAL LOVER

Produces Letter Written to Her from Former Crown Prince

CLAIMS DESERTION

Asks 10,000,000 Francs of Rumanian Who Denounced
Rights to Throne

Paris. (AP)—Carol of Rumania, who came here recently from Milan with Mme. Magda Lupescu, is being sued for 10,000,000 francs by his former morganatic wife, Jeanne Marie Valentina Lambrino, better known as "Zizi." After renouncing his rights as crown prince, Carol sought a haven of refuge from emissaries of the Rumanian royal household who were endeavoring to separate him from Mme. Lupescu but he apparently was unaware that Mme. Lambrino had a residence in Neuilly, a fashionable suburb of Paris.

Zizi bases her claim for damage on the allegation that "Mr. Charles De Hohenzollern" as Carol appears in the papers to the suit, having abandoned his royal wife, the former Princess Helen of Greece, and given up his right to succession, has disregarded the special patriotic and dynastic conditions under which she agreed to an annulment of the marriage. She now regards herself as in the position of a deserted spouse.

An annuity of 110,000 francs, settled on her by way of compensation, but which will only become her property after 20 years, is insufficient compensation for the injury she has suffered,
she avers.

PRODUCES LETTER

Among the documents produced to support her case is a letter from Carol, written at Bucharest, Aug. 1, 1919. It says:

"Dearest Zizi: Being obliged to leave and take command of my regiment at the front, one never knows what may happen. I wish this letter to be to you recognition on my part that I am the father of the child you are about to have, and that I never have ceased, despite the annulment of our marriage, to consider myself as your husband. I embrace you.

"Carol of Rumania."
Recently it was said that Queen
Marie and other members of the royal household were coming to Paris to attempt to win Carol from his love for Mme. Lupescu.

Carol has kept closely to his apartment in a hotel and has been seen only once in the company of Mme.
Lupescu. Rumor had it several days ago that his love for her was cooling.

A process server has given papers in the case of Carol and it is expected to come up in court shortly.

Carol and Mme. Lambrino were married in 1919 at Odessa.

VETERANS' COMMITTEE FAVORS LIBERAL ACTS

Washington, D. C. (AP)—A bill designed to liberalize legislation affecting world war veterans has been approved by the house veterans committee which expects to report it the first of the week.

It would provide for payment of $50 a month for five years to tubercular patients after they have reached a condition of virtual recovery and would extend for two years the period for vocational rehabilitation work which expires in June.

Teh bill also would extend from next June until 1933 the time for converting war insurance and would make all veterans' legislation applicable to 76 women who served in base hospitals in France.

The bureau also would be given jurisdiction over the northwestern branch of soldiers homes at Milwaukee, Wis., and the Battle Mountain sanatorium in South Dakota.

LAZARUS, RAILROAD HEAD, DIES SUDDENLY

cisco railroad, died Friday in the Broad St. hospital. He was stricken with apoplexy while at luncheon

D'ANNUNZIO OPERA IS ACCORDED VERY COOL RECEPTION

Milan, Italy. (AP)—Gabriele D'An-nuzio's opera, "The Martyrdom of San Sebastian," was given a cold reception on its Italian premiere at the Scala Thursday night, despite its sponsorship by the soldier-poet and his famous friends, Ida Kubienstein and Arturo Toscanini.
Polite but obviously unenthusiastic applause greeted Madame Rubinstein, but the Bakst setting and Debussy music did not fare so well.
D'Annunzio received an ovation.
Accompanied by his son, Gabrielli-
no, the poet sat in the first row.

STATE RIGHTS PLEA IS MADE BY RITCHIE

Claims Political Parties Put Group Interest Ahead of Principles

Richmond, Va. (AP)—Governor
Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, in pleading for state rights here Friday before the Virginia legislature, said that in both the Democratic and Republican parties "regional and group interests are supplanting national principles."

The Maryland governor declared that there is a growing dissatisfaction with political parties because "they no longer divide upon the basic principles which divide the country."
He asserted that since Mr. Bryan split the Democratic party in 1896 and Colonel Roosevelt split the Republican party in 1912 there have been elements in the opposing parties closer to each other than different elements in the same party have been.

"Blows and wings now seem to think their sectional and class interests
more important than political faith.
The integrity of our political system will not be restored until the rebellion against excessive federalism is won."

Governor Ritchie said that the Dyer anti-lynching bill, now before congress illustrated the invasion of state rights.

"It is called the anti-lynching bill—an illustration of the tendency in American politics to attach labels to measures which divert attention from their realities," the governor declared.

RETURN OF TED STIRS POLITICS

Roosevelt Denies He Will Begin Campaign for Governor's Office

New York. (AP)—The political atmosphere here is charged with speculation as to what effect the return of Theodore Roosevelt from his trip to Asia and the candidacy of George E.
Brennan for United States senator from Illinois will have on the approaching presidential and New York gubernatorial campaigns.

Intimations that Mr. Brennan's candidacy might be a prelude to a campaign by Governor Smith for the Democratic nomination in 1928 or that the governor would go to Illinois to campaign for the man who supported him in 1924, were met by a disclaimer from Governor Smith in Albany Thursday.

Friends of Colonel Roosevelt are reported to see in his return an opportunity time to begin a campaign for his nomination by the Republicans for the office of which he was defeated at the last election by Governor Smith. Mr. Roosevelt, however, has declined to comment on politics.

CAL'S POWER DEPENDS ON FARM PROGRAM

Attitude on Relief Will Either Make or Break Administration

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1926, By Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—It is significant that the very first thing submitted to President Coolidge in the day he began his second year "in his own right" as chief executive was the farm relief program—something that political prophets now are predicting will either break or make the administration in the next several months in the western states.

Up to now the administration has been able to plead that it was concentrated on the tax reduction bill and that no move could be made which would introduce factionalism in congress before that measure was out of the way. Now, however, the committee of 23 representing most of the farm organizations and the associations from western states have definitely come to the White House with a program which they will not permit to be sidetracked.

As for the president, he gave the committee no comment for the good reason that he expects the program they submitted in principle to be worked out in detail before he commits the administration to it in any way. The conference held in Des Moines which authorized the went on record in favor of the "principles of the Dickinson bill" but since then there has been no agreement on all sides as to what legislation is needed to carry out those principles.

Secretary Jardine of the agricultural department is the man on whom the president relies for an opinion as to just which legislation should have administration support. There are many bills pending in congress. Some of these innocently enough in their desire to protect the farmer place burdens on their farmers which would bring down loud protests if enacted.
The administration is really waiting to see if the farm groups can agree.
Fundamentally the secretary of agriculture stands ready to recommend to the president the approval of those measures which attempts to bring about orderly marketing. In other words most of what the committee which visited the White House had to say can be approved in general. The difficulty comes in working out the exact detail.

FAVORS MARKETING

As for a federal farm board to coordinate the activities of cooperative organizations, the administration favors this. It also approves of the idea of stabilizing the export price through orderly marketing but the government itself doesn't want to do the stabilizing. The farm co-operatives also will have to arrange for a system of collecting the tax they expect to impose on farmers generally.
The government is loath to take into its hands the duty of imposing the tax especially if at the same time it declines to have anything to do with fixing the price. Memories of what happened to the officials who fixed the price of wheat during the war still linger in the agriculture department. It is so much a question of judgment that a political administration hesitates to assume the responsibility. If the price should be fixed too low and then it develops that waiting a little longer, the government agency might have bargained for a higher price, there would be, it is felt, a certain reaction against the party in power. Political annun-tiation was accumulated the last time
the government was in the price-fixing business and there is no disposition to repeat the experiment.

But some co-operation between the government and those private agencies which attempt to regulate the export price may be worked out. The administration is willing but until a satisfactory plan is presented which meets all points of view the president will not indicate his position.
He will do as he did in the case of the McNary-Haughen bill simply wait till both houses of congress fight it out. The conflicting viewpoints on price fixing are fully represented in the senate and the house and if a bill does pass it will probably be accepted by the administration because it will be a compromise measure which makes a start at least toward handling the problem of surplus in farm products.

MAY SHUT DOWN WOOLEN MILLS

Strikers Hail Peaceful Parade
Thursday as Victory Over Police

Passaic, N. J. (AP)—Operators Friday had under consideration a proposal for a complete shutdown of woolen mills and strikers hailed Thursday's peaceful parade of 4,000 workers as a moral victory over the police who have broken up previous gatherings.

Approximately 7,000 workers are on strike, 4,000 more are out of work and an additional 4,000 would be affected by a shutdown. A conference of operators to decide on the advisability of a shutdown was asked for Friday or Saturday.

Thursday's parade, following two days of rioting, was led by Mrs. Elizabeth Kovacs, wheeling her sister's year-old baby in a carriage. In the marching column were scores carrying gas masks or wearing steel helmets.

Five newspaper men and photographers were in an armored motor car that overturned and nearly dropped into the Passaic river. Two of the men were slightly injured. The car had been called into use as a result of police smashing cameras Wednesday.

RECOMMEND DRAFT FOR LAKE CARRIERS

Milwaukee. (AP)—Recommendations for the draft of carriers on Lake Michigan and Lake Superior were received here Friday from George A.
Marr, secretary of the Lake Carriers association at Cleveland. For ships on Lake Michigan the draft was set at 18 feet, six inches less than last year, and for Lake Superior the draft was set at 17.9 inches.

The new loading capacity for ships will become effective with the first boat movements when lake traffic opens the coming spring.

ADULTERY IS NOT CRIME IN SOUTH AFRICA

Such Is Ruling of Judge in Sustaining Writ of Habeas Corpus

New York. (AP)—Vera, the Countess of Cathcart, won her suit to remain in this country Friday when Federal Judge Bondy sustained a writ of habeas corpus after District Attorney Buckner had entered into the record that adultery does not constitute a crime under the laws of the Union of South Africa.

The countess had been refused admission by immigration authorities on the ground of moral turpitude after her admission that she had accompanied the Earl of Craven to South Africa from England while both were married.

After detention on Ellis Island for several days the countess was granted entrance for 10 days pending a decision on her appeal to the secretary of labor.

Her attorneys then entered the writ for habeas corpus on which the decision was based.

Her temporary permit expired Wednesday night at 11 p. m.

Judge Bondy, following his decision,
said that if the department of labor had further evidence it wished to submit, he would reopen the case.

Judge Bondy cut short the argument of Arthur Garfield Hays in behalf of Countess Cathcart with the announcement that there was no dispute on the settled principle of law,
that the criminality of acts committed by an alien seeking admission to this country must be determined by the law of the place where such acts are committed.

PLAY IS APPROVED

London. (AP)—Countess Cathcart's play "Ashes," the performance of which has been held up for some time
by the censor, received the approval of the Lord Chamberlain Thursday night.

The Daily Express says the Countess Cathcart's fiancé, Ralph Neale, considerably altered the play by de-letions, removing, among others, a line in which the heroine accuses an other woman of leading an immoral life.

HANG NEGRO FOR BRUTAL ATTACK

Execution Is Witnessed by Hundreds of People; Many Turned Away

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—Ed Harris,
Negro, was hanged at the Fayetteville pen here Friday morning at 6:17 a.
m. He was convicted of attacking
Mrs. Margaret Bryant on Jan. 21, after he had slain her husband and two children. The negro was pronounced dead at 6:30 a. m.

The court yard was crowded with people who witnessed the hanging.
Two hundred more persons who could not gain entrance viewed the hanging from a nearby garage at two dollars a seat.

The negro mounted the scaffold calmly and prepared to address the gathering but his voice faltered.
"Just—just tell them goodbye," was all he said.

The case created unusual interest throughout the state, and after the negro was captured guardsmen were called out to protect him. Prisoners on one occasion threatened to mob him. He was carried from the state reformatory at Frankfort to trial here under an armed convoy of troops. Martial law prevailed here during the trial which lasted 16 minutes.

FIVE BANDITS SECURE $15,000 IN HOLDUP

St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—Five young men held up the Hamilton State bank
here Friday and escaped in an automobile with $15,000. Fourteen employees and customers were in the bank.

AGED COUPLE DIE FROM GRIEF OVER SLAYING OF SON

Pittsburg, Pa. (AP)—The deaths of Mr. and Mrs. A. J.
Gump within three weeks of each other were attributed by doctors Friday to grief over the recent killing of their son, I. L. Gump, by payroll robbers.
A few days after the son, a guard, met death at the hands of the robbers, who escaped with $45,000 of the Pittsburg Terminal
Coal Company payroll, the parents became ill. Gump, aged 89 years died three weeks ago. Mrs.
Gump, aged 93, succumbed Friday. They had been married for 67 years.

STATE ENTERS MURDER CASE OF CLERGYMAN

Starts Extradition Proceedings Against Woman
Held at La Crosse

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—A state investigation of the unexplained death of Knute B. Birkeland, Minneapolis, former clergyman, was under way
Friday while preparations were made by the attorney general's office for extradition proceedings against Mrs.
Mayne Hodge, held at La Crosse,
Wis., in connection with the death.

While Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general, took charge of the inquiry Floyd B. Olson, county attorney, Minneapolis, declared that the entire responsibility for the success or failure of the investigation rested with the governor.

It was after signing requisition papers for the return of Hodge to Minnesota to stand trial on a charge of murder that Governor Theodore Christianson requested the attorney general to take charge of the case.

"There are enough suspicious circumstances connected with the case to call for further investigation," Gov.
Christianson said in ordering a state inquiry. A number of prominent church men in Minneapolis had filed a petition with him asking that the state probe the mysterious death.

Mr. Birkeland, a successful business man, arctic whaler, trustee of Augustana seminary at Minneapolis and former Lutheran minister, was found in a vacant apartment several days after he disappeared last November. The woman held at La Crosse is alleged to have rented the apartment a few days before Mr.
Birkeland's disappearance. A coroner's jury held death was from unknown causes.

MOTHER GIVES STATEMENT

Eau Claire. (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Nagels, claimed Friday that her daughter, Mrs. Mayne Hodge, arrested here on a warrant charging the murder of Rev. Knute Birkeland in an apartment at Minneapolis Dec. 1, had been at her home every night since Nov.
12 last, and could not possibly have committed the crime.

Mrs. Hodge has been removed from the city to the county jail to await her hearing before Governor J. J.
Blaine at Madison, March 12, when her attorneys will resist extradition proceedings.

MEN UNDER ARREST ARE ACCUSED OF SLAYING

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—Merrill Beards and Leon Overt of Minneapolis, arrested a week ago at Menomonie, Wis., were accused Friday by Vergil Baker, arrested with them, of complicity in the slaying of two policemen here
Feb. 23.

Baker charges were made in a long statement to Harry H. Peterson, county attorney, and three police detectives, Mr. Peterson announced, and confessed Baker's participation in a series of robberies the night Patrolmen John Schultz and Fred A. Peitsch were killed.

HOUSE TAKES UP STUDY OF NEW MEASURE

Cramton, Michigan, Bill's Author, Says Department Is Needed

MELLON FAVORS CHANGE Federal Control Must be Stronger to Make En- forcement Effective

Washington. (AP)—Congress took up in earnest Friday the question of reorganizing the prohibition enforcement activities of the government
when the ways and means committee of the house began consideration of a bill to create a separate prohibition bureau in the treasury department.

The measure, drafted by Republican Cramton, Republican, Michigan, has been favored by Secretary Mellon and Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of the prohibition unit. Such a change is needed to curb diversion of alcohol and make federal enforcement more effective,
Mr. Cramton told the committee.

Legislation is needed, Mr. Cramton said, to "dignify with a bureau"
the machinery for coping with our most important national problem.

States must carry on much of the "police work" in enforcement, he said, "but federal control must be strong enough to prevent laxity in one place from weakening enforcement in surrounding territory."

"The federal government should have control of border patrols, he said, as well as the issuing of permits for withdrawals in order to prevent
"leakage."

"Would you say that all police work in connection with enforcement should be given to the state," asked Representative Mills, Republican,
New York. "No, I would not make it that strong," Mr. Cramton replied, adding that decentralization should not be carried to a point where it would weaken enforcement.

CONTROL BORDER PATROLS

The federal bureau should have control of border patrols, he said, as
well as the issuing of permits for withdrawals in order to prevent
"leakage."

Assistant Secretary Andrews, who followed Mr. Cramton on the stand, declared creation of a separate bureau was an essential step in the enforcement plan. Customs and coast guard activities, he said, should have similar bureau status, because the present task of coordinating the three units as organized is "too big for any one man."

So long as the present organization is allowed to stand, he declared, there can be no "hope of efficient administration."

"The proposed bureau should take enough from bootleggers in assessments to pay all its expenses in six months," General Andrews said.
"When will it go beyond that?" asked Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas.

"Probably soon after that," he replied, indicating a belief that enforcement will soon become a profitable business.

STAMP OUT DIVORCE EVIL, BISHOP URGES

New York. (AP)—Bishop William
T. Manning of the Episcopal diocese of New York believes that the time has come for church unity to stamp out the evils of divorce.

In a Lenten sermon Thursday he said that many tendencies in modern divorces were leading directly to the abolition of monogamy and the substitution of polygamy.

"I think the time has come when all church, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, should join in common effort for the preservation of marriage and the home," he said. "It should like to see the whole united influence of religion exerted to this great common cause."

HILBERT DOWNS VALDERS CAGERS

High School Basketball Team Wins Overtime Period
Game 10 to 8

Special to Post-Crescent

Hilbert—The Hilbert high school basketball team defeated the Valders high school team here Friday evening. N. Vollmer, guard, began the scoring when he dribbled down and caged a basket. It was soon followed by a basket made by Mueller. The first half was ended by a score of 6 to 2. The second half began with a rush and Valders was out to even up the score, which they soon succeeded in doing. The final whistle blew, leaving the score 8 to 8. It took an overtime period to defeat Valders. A few seconds before the whistle N. Vollmer caged another field goal to win the game. An impartial referee handled the game and gave satisfaction to both teams and fans. This was Valders' third defeat this season.

BURBANK HAPPY

LUTHER BURBANK

San Francisco—Reaching his seventy-seventh birthday on March 7, Luther Burbank, world famous "plant wizard," issued the following birthday message through NEA Service to his friends throughout the country:

"What a beautiful world we live in. My seventy-seventh birthday finds me busier than ever in nature's school, where I have always been a student. It finds me happier than ever because I have strength and the will to work. To all the world, but especially to the children who will think of me today, the friends I love best, I send this message:

H. S. STUDENTS AID WEIGLE TALE

Fill Out Questionnaires Affecting their Future Movements

Questionnaires to be used by Dan Weigle, civic expert, who will be in Appleton for Civic Week, March 7 to 13, were filled out by Appleton high school students this week. The material will furnish part of the data for Mr. Weigle's talk on Sunday and also for his address at a general assembly meeting at the school on Monday morning. The questionnaires called attention you are helpful and of service to the world, so you will find yourself growing more happy each day; and with happiness comes health and everything you want."

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats
—food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," 1 hour before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

ONEIDA SCHOOL TAKES FORTY PRIZES AT FAIR

"Second, do you expect to remain permanently in Appleton?"

"Third, what can the chamber of commerce do to help you in preparation for your life work?"

"Fourth, what, in your opinion, can the chamber of commerce do to make Appleton a better city in which to live and work?"

The school won a prize for having one of the three best booths. Other prizes were received for rope spelling, footstools, sewing, construction work, clay modelling, penmanship, maps, health posters, weed seed charts, home premises' poster, free hand drawing, corn husk tauts and free hand cutting. ARCHITECT INSPECTS RHINELANDER SCHOOL

George L. Smith of Smith and Brandt, architects, has returned from a visit at Rhinelander where he inspected a new high school being built in that city, the plans for which were prepared by his firm. The building will cost about $400,000, but only the first unit is being constructed at this time.

FOOLING THE PEOPLE

The state tax commission is engaged in sending out statements designed to make the new tax law appear in a favorable light. Its figures are evidently for the purpose of causing the people to believe they have been benefited by the new law. As a part of the political functions of the administration, it is not to be criticized. Naturally the administration wants to be praised and not damned for this legislation.

The statement is a comparison of property taxes paid this year and last, together with a comparison of rates in cities. The assertion is made that property taxes in cities for 1925 are nearly $1,000,000 less than those paid in 1921, with the significant comment that the decrease is "attributed to the remission of the state's share this year." This is the sum total of the administration's claim that the new law is beneficial. Unfortunately, however, for the governor and those who are making a point of the reduction, it tells only one quarter of the story.

As against the remission of $1,000,000 in state property taxes, accepting the tax commission's figures as correct, there is an aggregate increase in the small property holder's taxes of many hundreds of thousands of dollars; it may be nearly as much as the tax remitted by the state. This increase to the small property owners is due to repeal of the $500 homestead exemption. Every home owner will discover the fact for himself from his tax receipt. Every small home-owner will see that his taxes have been greatly increased, in some cases doubled. It follows, then, that whatever the remission in state taxes, it has been to a large extent made up at the expense of the small property owner. The reduction in the local tax rate presumably made possible by the remission of the state property tax has been of no value to him for his increase in taxes is very much more than this reduction in rate.

In addition, the small merchant and small business man have had their taxes greatly increased by repeal of the personal property offset. The larger business organization has had its taxes increased materially from the same cause, but perhaps it may be in a better position to meet the taxes. Theoretically it should be, although doubtless in many cases the additional tax will be a distinct hardship. But the hardship will fall the heaviest on the small property owner and the small business man.

In the aggregate the increased taxes to be paid by repeal of the personal property offset should amount to a much larger figure than the remission of the state property tax. The new tax law has benefited no one. Designed as class legislation to shift taxes more largely to business and industry, it has operated to put a much heavier burden in comparison on the man of small and moderate means. It has done exactly the reverse of what its originators and supporters claimed it would do. The net result is to swell the funds of the state administration, and that in the background is the real purpose of the legislation. This has been accomplished by heavily increasing the state's share of income taxes over its previous allotment. Everybody, in a general sense, pays more taxes. The proceeds go into the state treasury for the use of the politicians at Madison. If that is what the people want, they have got it.

CHICAGO, AMERICA'S CRIME CENTER

In one thing at least Chicago is succeeding in its so-called anti-crime move. It is getting itself advertised as the greatest crime center of America, and of course it has no competitors in Europe. No one will question its honor to the title. It has earned it by its record of murders, hold-ups, debauchery, depraved judiciary and polluted politics. The helplessness of Chicago in the clutch of crooks, bandits and grafters is ironically disclosed by the appeal of the Better Government association to congress to intervene and save the city. No such appeal had before been made by an American city of which we have knowledge. Of course, congress turned it down. When Chicago is ready to have martial law declared, the government might step in.

Mayor Dever resents the black eye Chicago's criminal world has given the city. He should not be so touchy. Chicago is ruled by criminals because of politics and Mr. Dever is in politics. He says: "I will show by figures that it has less crime per capita than any other large city in the world." That, of course, is a political ruse. Every city which earns a black eye is always ready to prove, through those who have permitted it or are indirectly responsible, that the colored orbit was not deserved. Our politicians at Madison are engaged in the same gymnastic feat. They are "proving" to the people that taxes are less despite their tax receipts show taxes are higher. Mr. Dever says the charges against Chicago are exaggerated. We think the daily crime record published in Chicago newspapers answers this.

In the end Chicago will probably get hold of itself, less through an awakened conscience and moral sense than through business necessity. A city cannot go on that way indefinitely without hurting itself in commerce, industry and development. When it becomes good politics to put decency and law and order in the ascendancy it will be done. So long as it is better politics to deal with gunmen, bootleggers and commercialized crime, just so long will Chicago remain where it is. Chicago's plight ought to be a warning to every city. The depths to which it has sunk in political depravity can easily be duplicated on a small scale in all other cities. Only an alert citizenship, which holds public officials responsible for their policies and acts and turns them out on their initial betrayals of trust can keep a city secure and guarantee reasonably efficient and clean government.

PROGRESS

Yale university announces that it is sending its dean-elect on a tour of the south and west to study educational methods in force in universities and colleges in those regions. Among the institutions he will visit are the University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina, Tulane University, Leland Stanford University of California and the University of Washington.

It hasn't been such a terribly long time since eastern educators would have scoffed at the suggestion that Yale could learn anything from colleges not in its immediate vicinity. The rest of the country has progressed marvellously in educational advantages.

High-bait remarks about "the hinterland" are no longer in order.

CLOTHES AND METABOLISM

In trying to explain the other day how a skinny person may get plump by dressing lightly and a fat person gets fatter by dressing heavily, I find I spilled the beans. I failed to take into consideration the fact that by reason of their abnormal state of nutrition and morbid metabolism both classes are somewhat dumb and so they find it difficult to follow a line of reasoning which involves mathematical calculations beyond long division.

In order to get once more boys in combat with my skinny and fat readers I must again cite the purest example, namely, the child who revels in bare knees all winter. This fortunate youngster is underweight, frail, sickly, to begin with, let us say, but he feels comfortable with his knees bared to the winter blasts; he is not an imbecile and therefore he knows better than you or I can know whether he is uncomfortable from cold or wet. The mere dissipation of heat from the uncovered knee surfaces will have one of two possible effects upon the child either it will stimulate his circulation, appetite, digestion, metabolism (oxidation process) to produce more energy from the combustion of fuel or it will freeze the child. The freezing is only theoretically possible—given a child who is not an imbecile it is scarcely likely to be better appetite, better digestion, better circulation, greater vigor and increased vitality. That is all an expression, or varied expressions, of improved metabolism.

But we haven't considered another influence which, for all we know at present, may contribute more than the mere exposure of the knees to the cold does, and that is the influence of daylight, sky shine or even occasional flashes of direct sunshining upon the uncovered skin of the child's knees. I suspect this is the medicine we are after, rather than the mere exposure of the naked skin to "fresh air." I think the suggestion advanced by Dr. John R. Todd of Syracuse, N. Y., may prove to be the prophecy of a man of extraordinary scientific foresight. Dr. Todd takes up the great question of "fresh air" where the New York state ventilation commission laid it down, and he suggests that the vital difference between fresh air and stale or foul air is perhaps something akin to a vitamin in the fresh air.

Now to continue with the happy youngster leaving the winter winds and snowdrifts with his bare knees, it is quite common experience, as many intelligent parents report, for the anemic, flabby, weak, undernourished, sickly youngster of the fall to take on needed weight through the winter, so that he gets into excellent ring-side condition before spring rolls around, to the utter confusion of all the old harpies who have spent the winter predicting rheumatism, consumption and other dire casualties for "some day." If this isn't perfectly clear and intelligible to any frail who yearns for last 10 or 20 pounds of flesh, I can only suggest that maybe the ductless gland mechanism is out of order and requires adjustment by the physician.

It would be absurd to assume that all an individual who is much underweight has to do in order to get plump is to leave off some clothes. But there is an underlying principle here which is sound and true, and I repeat a health maxim I have often urged and challenge anyone to controvert it: "Every stitch or rag of clothing which is not essential for comfort must be considered deleterious to health."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Clean Teeth

My husband and I both have double sets of store teeth. How often should we brush our false teeth to insure our health against infection? (Mrs. S. T. M.)

Answer—A thorough washing with soap and water once a day should keep the dentures clean.

A Detached Boy

Can you tell me of any medicine or treatment that would stop bed wetting in a 10 year old boy? I have tried a kidney remedy and chiropractic treatments neither of them helped any. (O. J. C.)

Answer—No. But if your child is so afflicted, tell me so, and inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, and I'll send you some helpful advice. No clipping, please. I do not offer this advice except to correspondents who ask for it.

At the regular meeting of the council this week a report was made by the judiciary committee in regard to the request of the Waupaca Lumber company for a tax rebate on logs shipped into the city for the manufacture of lumber. The committee declared it had no authority to act in the matter and advised the council to take no action, but leave it entirely to the assessor. Old Man Winter seemed to be more firmly entrenched than ever in Appleton early Friday for at 6 o'clock in the morning the mercury had tumbled down to 4 below zero, according to the Schlafer Hardware Co. thermometer. It was the lowest level recorded this month. This, however, is not a low record for March temperatures, as only last year the record showed 10 degrees below zero on March 2. But this was the only extremely cold day in March, 1925, for immediately following there came a period of mild weather when the mercury hovered around 35 and 45 degrees above zero daily. The weather man has prophesied slowly rising temperature for Saturday.

OUNCE OF ASHES WILL SAVE TON OF ACCIDENTS

This is the time to guard against slippery sidewalks and apply the golden rule in preventing accidents. H. H. Hackworthy, city street commissioner, announced on Thursday.

The condition of most walks at this time make it quite easy to fall and fracture a limb, Mr. Hackworthy said, but residents can do much to protect themselves as well as others. In many cases, it is almost impossible to keep the walks clear of ice. Each afternoon the snow begins to melt and in the evening the water turns to ice thus making the walks slippery and dangerous to pedestrian traffic.

Mr. Hackworthy recommends that a little ashes be strewn daily on the walks as long as they remain icy. Sand or rocky salt, or a mixture of both also may be used. Residents may not like to have ashes trailed into their homes, but Mr. Hackworthy is considering the danger of broken

We Paid $1,000,000 For this way to stop Colds

Some years ago a famous laboratory developed a remedy for colds. It proved itself quick, effective and complete. It stopped colds in 24 hours, checked colds in 24 hours. It checked the fever, stopped the headache, opened the bowels, toned the system. So recovery from the cold was prompt. The remedy brought no ill results, as quinine did before.

That laboratory announces its creations to physicians only. Most people don't consult doctors on colds. Millions of people who needed this help did not learn about it.

So W. H. HILL secured that formula and called it HILL'S Cascara-Bromide-Quinine. He sent out millions of samples to prove its effects. And he spent vast sums in telling the fact to people who have colds. As a result, countless homes came to rely on it.

first

for the 8th consecutive year at the National Automobile Shows

On Display at The APPLETON AUTO SHOW March 6-7-8

A GAIN Buick has won first place in the motor car industry. This year, as in every one of the preceding seven, the public has invested more dollars in Buick automobiles than in other cars built by any member of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

This entitles Buick to first choice of display space at the National Automobile Shows in New York and Chicago. For eight years Buick has dominated quality motor car sales, enjoying nearly a decade of leadership, while a host of other fine cars were striving for the place of honor held by Buick. A better idea of the magnitude of this Buick achievement may be obtained when you consider that to duplicate it, a motor car would need to capture first place now, then hold it continuously until 1934.

To have won the lion's share of public preference, year after year, for so long, conclusively shows superior merit in the Buick product.

Buick has built a better motor car, and public recognition has followed—has singled it out as the one car among all—which contains in the greatest measure the essentials of dependable, economical and luxurious motoring.

ONLY 3 BADGER CITIES UNDER MANAGER RULE

Eau Claire Votes Down Proposal to Change After Bitter Court Battle

Madison. (AP)—Kenosha, Janesville and Two Rivers continue to occupy alone, a unique position among the city governments of Wisconsin, with the defeat of the city manager plan by the city of Eau Claire. The three cities are operating under the city manager form of government, which has supplanted the aldermanic and commission plans in more than 400 cities in the United States.

After a prolonged campaign, Eau Claire voted against displacing the present commission form of government with a city manager, at a special election Tuesday. The majority was 552, the vote being 2,889 against the change and 2,337 in favor of the new plan.

Eau Claire is the second city in Wisconsin to defeat the city manager plan. Ford H. MacGregor, of the municipal information bureau of the University of Wisconsin, said Starkeon Day defeated the proposition a year ago.

Rhinelander votes on the adoption of the city manager plan next Tuesday, and West Allis will consider the proposition at the spring election April 6.

The election in Eau Claire followed a court battle over the question of a special election decided in favor of the advocates of city management, by Circuit Judge James H. Wickham.

Judge Wickham denied the motion of the city of Eau Claire to quash the citizen's petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the city council to call a special election.

The court held that a statute which refers to and adopts the provisions of other sections of the statute is not affected by the later passage of those sections. The city attorney of Eau Claire had held that there was no method of adopting the city manager plan inasmuch as the sections in the general charter law to which the city manager law referred had been repealed.

City management in Wisconsin is four years old this April. The city manager plan supplanted the aldermanic system in April, 1922, in Kenosha, first city of Wisconsin to adopt the plan.

M. O'Brien, formerly of Cleveland, has been manager there for four years. Janesville followed Kenosha's lead, disbanding the aldermanic system in April, 1922, with the selection of Henry Traxler, of Clarinda, Ia., as city manager.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH IN "HANDS UP" AT FISCHERS APPLETON THEATRE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY WITH VAUDEVILLE.

T. Biehl assumed the managerial reins in Two Rivers last April.

In all three cities, the office of mayor was abolished; the president of the city council is coming the head official. The city manager of each city is directly responsible to the city council for the conduct of city business, while the manager in turn holds the heads of the various city departments directly responsible to him for the administration of their office.

In the opinion of Mr. MacGregor, who also is secretary of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, there is

NO SEINES USED TO REMOVE ROUGH FISH, IS CLAIM

Senator White Denies Charges Made by Sport Writer in Milwaukee Paper

Statements in a recent issue of a Milwaukee newspaper to the effect that seines are being used to remove rough fish from Lake Winnebago and in that way kill game fish are disputed by Senator Merritt White, Winnebago, Payson and Little des Morts.

It was stated further and this is the part to which Mr. White objects most seriously—that:

"A while ago the state legislature appropriated $10,000 to seine rough fish out of Lakes Winnebago, Winnebago, Payson and Little des Morts."

It also continued to say that in the recent seining operations "many law-years or celpout, in the course of stomachs were game fish minnows."

The inaccuracies were so numerous, it prompted Senator White to this explanation. "The state legislature did make an appropriation of $10,000 to aid the waters of lake lawyers, and I introduced that bill. But the bill did not provide for the use of seines but hoopnets. There were 13,353 celpouts taken out before the hoopnet fishing season closed."

moved before the hoopnet fishing season closed.

"The article in question said there was a 'time worn row on at Oshkosh' over a seine fishing for lake law-years or celpout, in the course of which great quantities of game fish had been killed."

It also declared that accounts of successful hauls recently made in which great quantities of rough fish were taken out without killing of game fish was merely a "whitewash."

There were 13,353 celpouts taken out before the hoopnet fishing season closed."

"Many of them were opened and in every instance we found game fish. The smallest number in any one was five or six and all the way up. Take ten as the average, in 365 days each of them would consume 3,650 game fish. And the 13,353 would eat nearly fifty million in one year."

"The celpout are taken out largely during the spawning season and therefore the salvage work is also preventive in character by ridding the water of many celpout before they actually come into being. In taking out those celpout with hoopnets we have not killed a single gametish. The work is to continue in the spring and we will probably take out fully as many more."

"Regarding the seining to which reference was made, there has not been one cent appropriated by the legislature. That work is done by commercial fishermen under an old law, and there is no money appropriated for that work."

"The fishermen make their profits from the sale of the rough fish, but almost no lawyers were taken in any of the hauls. The commercial fishermen are licensed for a fee and do not come under the law which I fathered and under which the celpout were taken from the waters."

REGENT BOARD HEARS REPORT ON FIELDHOUSE

Fred Bachman Returns from Meeting of Heads of University of Wisconsin

In addition to a heavy program of business transacted by the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin, a report from a committee appointed to make a study of the proposed field house was received and discussed, according to Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer, who has just returned from a regular session of the board of which he is a member.

The report was presented by George Little, director of athletics, who addressed the Appleton Lions club recently. George Little, business manager of athletics, who has referred most of the Lawrence college basketball games this year, also Professor O. J. Kowalek and A. S. Johnson.

It is proposed that the new fieldhouse be one-half given over to the intercollegiate program and one-half to the intramural development. The structure will seat 14,000 persons, sufficient for the student body, the faculty, as well as a number of Madison residents and visitors at the basketball games and track meets. Besides this, it will provide training quarters for varsity, freshman class and groups in basketball, track, crew, wrestling, boxing and the 26 intramural sports. It will also be large enough for mass meetings and convocations of the entire student body.

In fact this is the type of fieldhouse considered necessary for the four-year athletic course and the summer courses of the university. State championship basketball tournaments and state track meets can be held in the structure. All the equipment needed for a modern field house will be provided, if the proposed plan is adopted.

CONDUCT SECOND MEAT ESSAY TILT

Contest Is Open to All High School Students With $150
as Prize

Valuable prizes will be awarded the writers of the best stories on Meat for the third National Meat Story contest conducted by the National Live Stock and Meat board, according to an announcement made by Miss Catherine Spence of the domestic science department of Appleton high school.

The contest is open to all high school students taking the home economics course and to those who have completed at least one course in this subject. The purpose of the board in offering this contest is to induce a deeper study of the subject of meat on the part of the young people.

A scholarship of $150 will be awarded to the winner of first place in each of the four districts in the United States. In addition to this scholarship which may be applied on a course in home economics in any normal school, college or university in the country, the district winners will be given $50 in cash. Nine other prizes of from $10 to $50 will be awarded in each district, and a national prize of $100 will be given to the district winner submitting the best story on meat. In order that at least one girl in each state may win a prize, $10 will be awarded to the best story in any state that has not won a district prize.

Beside the story, each entrant must submit three original meat recipes. One hundred of these recipes will be selected for honorable mention and each will receive a prize of $1.

All stories written by Appleton girls must be given to Miss Spence sometime before the spring vacation at the school which will start on March 26.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form) never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

NEARLY 20 MILLION CARS IN AMERICA

Pedestrians are becoming fewer in number each year, according to recent figures on the number of automobiles. Nearly 20,000,000 cars now are in use in this country.

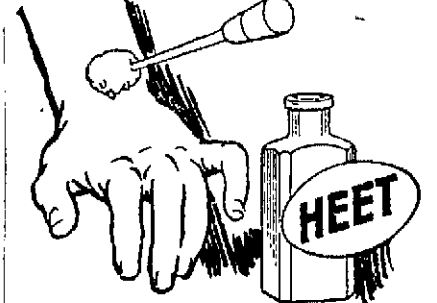

To be exact 19,999,436 cars now are in use, a gain of 2,341,468 during 1925. The percentage of gain is 13.2. The total license fees and gas taxes collected were $335,345,972, and the increase in value of the 28 leading motor stocks was $310,246,452.

The United States is far in the lead in the number of automobiles as the total number in the world is 25,973,928.

Sandringham, the residence of the late Queen Alexandra, was bought by King Edwards originally for 200,000 pounds.

WAUPACA WOMAN GIVEN DIVORCE

One Time Greenville Woman Is Separated from "One-man Orchestra"

Two former residents of Greenville were separated Wednesday when Marie Hoier was granted a divorce from her husband, Arthur Hoier, by Judge Byron B. Park in Portage-co. circuit court at Stevens Point. The couple moved to Ordensburg, near Waupaca, a short time ago, but the case was heard in Stevens Point, which is part of the same circuit district as Waupaca-co. Mrs. Hoier was given the custody of a minor child.

The couple had been married about three years.

Hoier brought suit for divorce, but it was granted to his wife on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. She had him arrested three times during the three years of their married life, the last time for failure to support her, the testimony showed. They had been separated voluntarily while living in Greenville and Mr. Hoier had been supporting her by money sent to the clerk of courts in this city after his arrest. A number of the checks which he sent in for this purpose were found to be worthless.

Mr. Hoier, though a good mechanic, is alleged to have made part of his living as a "one-man orchestra", playing three different instruments at one time. He has broadcasted from the Omro radio station a number of times.

Four large volumes were required to contain the will of a woman who died recently in London.

SMITH REBUILDS
TEAM TO MEET
OSHKOSH CAGERS

Kaukauna Determined to Give Sawdust City Stiff Battle Friday Night

Kaukauna—A reorganized basketball squad will represent Kaukauna High school at Oshkosh Friday night. Practically a new team had to be rebuilt by Coach Smith in the four days between the time Gonyo was declared ineligible by the W. L. A. A. and the game in the Sawdust city. Gonyo's loss was one of the smoothest working basketball teams that ever represented Kaukauna. The team had won several games and lost two, but because of the association's ruling, all games in which Gonyo participated were forfeited.

Because the crack old team has been disrupted, a new team will go to Oshkosh. The Farwell-Gonyo combination was one of the best ever seen on the local floor, is gone. Smith has had to work a new squad. Welch, in Gonyo's place. All season Smith has only had enough material for one team and now that he has lost a man it has become necessary for him to work Welch, who has played forward whenever he has played at all, into the guard position. Although Welch is a speedy youngster he cannot be turned into a guard overnight.

Oshkosh is a member of the Fox River Valley basketball conference and although it has lost most of its games in the conference it still is capable of playing a strong game. This is the first time Kaukauna has met Oshkosh in basketball of recent years and it is just a step in the new policy being pursued by the Kaukauna High school athletic authorities in securing better and stronger athletic competition for the Kaurmen. The Orangemen are not anticipating victory, but they will put up a strong fight.

The local team left for Oshkosh early Friday afternoon. Coach Smith will use MacFadden and Macrone at the forward positions. Boyd at center and Farwell and Welch as guards. One of the largest delegations of townspeople ever following a local team accompanied the squad to Oshkosh.

It is possible the Iron River, Mich. basketball team will be brought to Kaukauna next Friday night, according to the athletic authorities. Iron River has won all of its games so far this season and claims the championship of the range.

MACBETH PROGRAM IS GIVEN IN HIGH SCHOOL

Kaukauna—A "Macbeth" program was presented in the east assembly of Kaukauna High school during general assembly period Thursday morning. The Girls' Glee club opened the program by singing several appropriate songs which was followed by a prologue on Macbeth by Alice Burkenmeyer. Elmer Grebe and Dessie Dorius portrayed a part of "Macbeth." Ione Hugenberg gave an interesting talk on "The Life of Shakespeare." Orpha Elmer was chairman of the program which was given by members of Miss Ethel Handran's English class.

In the west assembly a short program was given during the general assembly period. Elmer Ott opened the program with a comical reading and Ralph Burns gave a talk on "Jewish Tabernacles." Mildred Kobussen and Wilma Arps closed the entertainment with a reading. Elmer Grebe was chairman.

STAGE And SCREEN"HANDS UP" BEST GRIFFITH
COMEDY CLASSIC TO DATE

Admirees of Raymond Griffith will give the popular silk hat comedian a rousing welcome tonight at the Fischer's Appleton Theatre, where his latest comedy, "Hands Up" is now being shown. This is by all odds Griffith's finest, funniest and most spectacular picture to date, and reflects great credit on Clarence Badger, the director, Reginald Morris, author and Monty Duce and Lloyd Corrigan scenarists.

"Hands Up" has a combined Civil War and western background, and this gives the inimitable Raymond an excellent opportunity to burlesque all the heavy war dramas and the wide and well-advertised open spaces. Needless to say he doesn't miss a single trick, and the result is a picture that provokes roars of laughter with the rapid-fire precision of a machine gun.

As a Confederate spy, sent by General Robert E. Lee to get control of the Union gold supply, Griffith runs into one exciting adventure after another. Yet despite the fact that he is kept busy dodging Indians, battling western "bad men," and, in general, trying to win the war single-handed, he still finds time to fall in love with two — count 'em — two pretty girls.

After many hair-raising experiences, in which the rollicking young soldier escapes hanging by the bat of an eyeshot, he succeeds in returning to the Confederate lines, only to discover that the war is over. But he still has the two girls on his hands, and his surprising way of solving the tangled romance brings the picture to a hilarious conclusion. Shown on same program with four acts Vaudeville, Aesop's Fables, News Comedy and Scenic.

"THE EVERLASTING WHISPER"

One of the most interesting and thrilling pictures in which Tom Mix has ever appeared, "The Everlasting Whisper" at the New Bijou theatre to-day and Saturday.

It shows the western hero in a new light in some of the sequences—that of a lover of women. He has often shown his capacity to make wild horses do his bidding, but in this picture, he convinces his leading lady, played by Alice Calhoun, that she much prefers the wild of the indomitable male to the attentions of an Easterner.

Tom does one of his most breath-taking feats on the edge of a cliff, a light sufficiently realistic to furnish all the thrills anyone could ask. It is a mystery how these scenes are taken without endangering the lives of the men who take part in them. One pleasant thing about Tom Mix pictures is that nothing is left out to make them realistic. "The Everlasting Whisper" is indeed a worthy effort.

Tom's loyal side partner, Tony, is responsible for many thrills. "This horse seems to have an uncanny knowledge of how to conduct himself before the camera. In his flight with the hungry wolves, even a seasoned reviewer felt an uncertainty as to the outcome.

"NO, NO, NANETTE" IS COMING

It is welcome news that "No, No, Nanette," now the reigning sensation of New York, London and Australia, and which played to sold-out capacity for more than a year in Chicago, is now being shown at the New Bijou theatre, as it did for twenty-seven weeks in Philadelphia, is booked for Fischer's Appleton Theatre next Monday night, March 8.

"No, No, Nanette," with its famous song hits, "I Want to be Happy" and "Tea for Two," is the outstanding musical sensation of this generation, its irresistible toe-tickling melodies being literally sung nightly in all the great amusement capitals of the world.

When H. H. Frazee opened "No, No, Nanette" originally in Chicago, he looked for possibly eight good weeks at the Harris Theatre. So, he felt safe in promising his new musical comedy for a fairly early engagement in New York. However, "No, No, Nanette" soon began to make history in the windy city. The town went wild over "I Want to be Happy" and all the other songs. And it leaped itself into hysteria over the brilliant humor of the book. The girls of the ensemble were declared to be the pick of the revue in smartness and beauty. The theatre reached a solid and sustained "sell-out" record and the booking was extended indefinitely, rounding out over 500 performances.

A cast of stellar excellence, headed by John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, is promised by Mr. Frazee, presenting such sterling musical comedy favorites as Dorothy Newell, Rutelle Young, Roland Woodruff, Floyd Binkley, Helen Case, Mary Vaughn, Mildred Joy, Myrtle Miller, and a dozen or more other principals of equal renown. The chorus is an exceptionally interesting one. The same picturesque scenic production and startling costumes will be in evidence as well as the gorgeous garden of girls, which has been a conspicuous feature in "No, No, Nanette's" conquest of two hemispheres.

The same cast with exception of Mr. Charles Winninger, will appear in Appleton as in Chicago.

PARIS, VENICE IN NEW SCREEN PLAY

Paris, with its sparkle, its safety and its life, and Venice with its laziness, gondoles and moonlight form the background of "The Far Cry," a new First National picture, slated for a showing at the Elite theatre on Saturday and Sunday.

The plot reveals how an American girl, lured by titles, marriages and as quickly divorces a French marquis in Paris and then goes to Venice to meet the American sweetheart whom she should have wed.

"The Far Cry" is a Katherine Kavanaugh adaptation of the Arthur Richman play of the same name and was filmed under the direction of Balboni, the young Italian screen genius who has just been made a director. Its leading roles are interpreted by Blanche Sweet, Jack Mulhall, Myrtle Stedman and Hobart Bosworth. June Marlowe acted in an advisory capacity during the filming.

QUIZ TOONEN IN PLEA FOR CHANGE IN ASSESSMENT

Assessor of Incomes Tells How County Board Changed Equalization Figures

Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes for Outagamie and Winnebago counties, occupied the witness stand this morning at the hearing on the appeal of five towns for a re-assessment of Outagamie county before the Wisconsin tax commission. Charles D. Dose and W. J. Conway of Madison are representing the commission and Clarence Oik, Antigo, a commission reporter. L. P. Fox, Chilton, was attorney for the towns. John A. Lomdorf, district attorney, represented the county board informally, and Joseph Lefebvre and A. C. Rosser, city attorneys representing Kaukauna and Appleton. Other men who were authorized by their districts to assist in the hearing were A. C. Rule, assessor of Appleton, Anton Jensen, president of Little Chute, and Joseph Doerflinger, supervisor of Kaukauna. At the request of Mr. Fox, Mr. Toonen identified statements showing the equalization as established by the county board in November 1925, the equalization as recommended to the board by him, and the cash difference between the two equalizations in each village city and town. He stated that the assessed values are recommended to him were obtained by a review of sales in the cities and villages and in the towns where few or no sales were made by inspection of properties. He read the number of sales on which the equalization was based in the villages and cities and stated that in reviewing the sales he got in touch with either the seller or buyer and found out either the selling or buying price before making the assessment. He said that the equalization as adopted by the county board based the assessment of the towns about $26,000 over his recommendations and decreased the cities and villages and from Combined Towns and Supervisor about the same amount. Mr. Toonen was cross-examined by Mr. Rosser, Mr. Lefebvre and Mr. Rule in order to clear up certain points. Mr. Rule endeavored to show that the method used by Mr. Toonen to assess property in the city of Appleton was wrong and that the method caused in the county couldn't be applied in the city.

BLESSMAN WINS FIRST PLACE IN H. S. ORATORY

Trover's Oration, The Prophet's Tragedy, Puts Carl Nelson Second

Edward Blessman won first place in the H. S. Memorial Oratorical contest at Appleton high school Thursday night with his oration, "Trover's Oration, The Prophet's Tragedy." Carl Nelson was given by the winner of the second place, Carl Nelson. Dr. Carl Nordholm, president of the class of 1926, sponsor of the contest, presided at the meeting and gave a brief remembrance of William Trover, a classmate who was killed in France during the World War and for whom the contest was named. Mr. Trover was prominent in athletics as well as in forensics at the high school. Dr. Nordholm said "Two letters written by Mr. Trover from France were read. Judges of the contest were Professor Robert Hannam, Gustave Keller, and George Eckley. The decision on the speeches was very close, they reported, for there was only one point difference in the decisions between the first and second winners, and only one between the second and third winners. The other orators were: The Crisis of the Ages, written by Lloyd Martin and given by Rodnee Ovi; The Christ of the Andes, given by Marie Zuehlke; and The American Infamy, given by Robert Wolf. Musical selections were given by the high school orchestra, and the boys also sang. Mrs. Margaret Sherman, English instructor at the school, acted as the speaker for the contest. About 100 persons were present.

THREE CLUBS IN RACE TO GET MEN OUT TO MEETING

C. of C. Offers Trophy to Club With Largest Representation at Civic Dinner

Three Appleton service organizations, Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis clubs will compete in a contest to see which will have the largest number of members at the civic week dinner Monday noon at the Conway hotel at which Dan Welele, St. Paul, community betterment engineer, will speak on "The Community Clearing House." This dinner is for members of the three organizations and the club with the largest percentage of its membership present will be given a loving cup by Appleton Chamber of Commerce. The cards sent out calling for volunteer workers in the chamber of commerce membership drive March 11 to 13 have met with a ready response according to Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary. The cards were mailed out only Tuesday and a large number of replies have been received in each mail since that time. Civic week is described in the Community Betterment bulletin issued by the chamber of commerce as a period of municipal enlightenment, a time when the gospel of community service will be preached from press and pulpit and school from home and office—from the platform of every civic club and fraternal organization in Appleton. Dan Welele, who will be in charge of the civic week program here will personally direct a survey of Appleton's assets and needs as brought out by the report of the judges in the Better Cities contest. His survey also will include a study of the ten schedules prepared in this contest by the special committees appointed by the chamber of commerce about two years ago. These surveys include city planning and zoning, industry and commerce, education, health, public library, town and country relation and religion.

COUNCIL GETS REPORT ON SURVEY OF CITY SEWERS

EXPERT LAYS OUT PLAN FOR FUTURE WORK

Engineer Tells Aldermen His Survey Provides for Next 50 Years

An informal meeting of the common council was held in the city hall Friday morning at the call of Mayor John Goodland, Jr., following the arrival of W. G. Kirchhoffer, Madison, consulting engineer, for the purpose of submitting a report on the sewer survey he made in Appleton last summer.

After a discussion of two other matters, there was no time left to discuss the sewer report or even hear it read, for the members wished also to attend the state tax hearing which was being held in the courthouse Friday morning. The alderman therefore adjourned to 1 o'clock Friday afternoon to listen to Mr. Kirchhoffer's report. The hour of the meeting was set that early because the engineer intended to leave on an afternoon train.

Permission was given by the council to Lawrence Pierce for using small quantities of dynamite for excavating a basement for a house to be built for Maurice Carter on W. Lawrence-st. The work by Mr. Pierce's gasoline power shovel was interrupted when it encountered a 4-foot frost. It has become necessary to loosen the earth with dynamite, he said. The council authorized the use of it but specified that the work must be done under the surveillance of the city street commissioner. Each blast will be covered with the huge shovel.

INSPECT PAVEMENT
The aldermen devoted considerable time to discussion of a proposal to make a trip to Milwaukee to inspect vibrolithic pavements. It is probable that a committee will be appointed for that mission. If the trip is taken it will have to be made before March 10 when the paving contracts probably will be awarded.

Mr. Kirchhoffer submitted a report consisting of 17 pages of closely typed reading matter, as well as a collection of maps showing the present and proposed storm sewers and the present and proposed sanitary sewers. Mr. Kirchhoffer said that the survey made provisions for a 50-year program of sewer construction.

During the interim between the morning and the afternoon sessions of the aldermen, Mr. Kirchhoffer went out to study the intercepting sewers, which are the large sewers at the river banks that collect the sewage from the sanitary sewers emptying into the Fox river from both sides. He wished to make this survey in order to complete the data which he was to submit Friday afternoon.

Some of the aldermen were particularly anxious to see the results of the survey as they thought it might give them information as to whether the present sewerage system in the Fourth ward is adequate for the Lake Park reserve plat which the city has been asked to annex.

The survey will show all the weak points of the present system in Appleton, indicate how they may be strengthened and where new storm sewers and sanitary sewers are now the most urgent.

Miss Arline Seglinsky, daughter of Mrs. Anton Bodmer, 220 E. Atlantic-st., submitted an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday morning.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Your income tax for the year 1925 is less, in proportion to your income, than was the tax for 1924. A rate reduction, however, is not the only benefit tax afforded by the revenue act of 1926. Increase in the exemptions and other changes in revenue legislation are of immediate interest to every taxpayer.

The revenue act of 1926 requires that returns be filed by every single person whose net income for 1925 was $1,500 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and by every married couple whose aggregate net income was $3,500 or more, or whose aggregate gross income was $5,000 or more. Last year returns were required of married couples whose aggregate net income was $2,500 or more, and of single persons whose net income was $1,600 or more. Husband and wife, living together, may include the income of each in a single joint return, or each may file a separate return showing the income of each. Net income is gross less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc.

The period for filing returns ends March 15, 1926. The return, accompanied by at least one-fourth of the amount of tax due, must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or has his principal place of business.

BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, jilted BRUCE REYNOLDS, architect, because she wants to be left alone. She gets a job at the Appleton Telegraph. Bruce joins the firm Manners, Stone and Reynolds, promoting Vale Acres. He meets LYDIA STACY, rich widow who becomes infatuated with him.

Barbara covering a suicide, finds a red scarf she recognizes as Mrs. Stacy's. Mrs. Stacy likes Bruce but he refuses her advances so she tells ANDREW McDERMOTT, editor of the Telegraph, that Vale Acres is crooked. A number absconds and Bruce is indicted. Bruce is cleared after Mrs. Stacy has been forced to testify by Barbara, who confronts her with the scarf.

Bruce despairs of winning Barbara and weds VIOLETTA GRABBY, factory girl. Barbara advised in the Telegraph "Love-John" column. McDermott's daughter, Fanny, who has shared Barbara's apartment, elopes with Jerome Ball against Barbara's advice. Violetta and Bruce have a child. Barbara leaves Appleton to join the staff of Footlights magazine in New York.

ELIZABETH FURNIVALL, single at 40, becomes Barbara's friend at the Footlights office. She is hurt when Barbara moves to Greenwich Village on the advice of MARIA CAPRI, free verse writer. Maria steals the diamonds rings Barbara's mother left her.

Barbara is invited to a studio party by DAISY OLIVERO, actress. That day Barbara finds Miss Furnivall dead from gas. Barbara, in desperation, goes to Daisy's party, hoping to forget. Ramon Domizelli, futurist painter, takes a fancy to Barbara, to Daisy's disgust. But Barbara sees him dipping his fingers into the salad bowl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LIII
Talk languished while food occupied the attention of the party. Barbara found an ottoman in a corner and sank down upon it. She could not eat.

Words drifted toward her from time—"self-determinism," "Swami," "aura," "sublimation," "Strinberg." The bearded man and Thomas Higgins seemed to be keeping up the conversation chiefly. One of the girls in black had gone frankly to sleep on the floor, and the other was drinking too many cocktails and laughing shrilly between drinks.

Daisy Olivero was not playing the role of orthodox hostess. She stood moodily by the window for long periods of time, only turning when someone addressed a remark to her. A cuckoo clock piped up twelve strokes. "What a silly thing for you to have," cried Thomas Higgins. "If I thought cuckoo clocks lived only in Victorian parlors, along with haircloth sofas and wax flowers."

Daisy turned on him. "Cuckoo clocks can tell people when to go home as well as any other kind of clock," she flared.

Thomas Higgins looked at her soberly. "Well," he drawled, "that hour has evidently struck for me, at least. And I don't think the rest of the gang is particularly welcome, either."

The girl in black raised her voice. "Who says I'm not welcome? I'm sure Daisy wants me here, don't you, Daisy, darling?"

Miss Olivero did not deign to answer. Higgins struggled to his feet and leaped over the body of the sleeping girl on the floor. "I'll be going," he drawled. "Somebody order my coach and six."

The rest of the crowd followed him. Barbara envied the efforts of Ramon to follow her. "I've had a pleasant time, Miss Olivero," she said, in the hallway. "You must come and see me sometime."

"Thank you. I never make calls," replied her hostess. "Goodnight."

"Oh, Miss Hawley, Guinevere," Ramon was shouting after Barbara, as she ran down the steps. She ran still faster. When she reached the outside door, she heard the voices of Ramon and Miss Olivero in sharp altercation above.

She ran out into the street and down to the taxi stand at the corner. As her cab passed Miss Olivero's building, she saw Ramon standing on the stoop, looking eagerly up and down the street.

When Barbara reached home, she bathed, and washed her hair, so that it no longer smelled of incense and stale tobacco.

The winter months crept away, with their long nights and murky dawns. Barbara went to work morning after morning before the fog had risen over Manhattan.

Miss Furnivall's death had left a shortage in the Footlights staff that had not been filled. Barbara found most of Miss Furnivall's work added to her own duties. But by this time she had become acquainted with the system of the magazine so that she worked more easily and rapidly.

Miller had apparently accepted her as his main helper. Two increases in her pay check, and important assignments that came frequently put her at ease as to her place on the staff.

Miller came into her office one winter day in conversational mood. "Funny thing," he said, lounging on his desk, "they never found a match in Betsy Furnivall's belongings to indicate why she killed herself."

Barbara frowned. "I shall always feel partly responsible for her death, Mr. Miller. I think my moving down to the Village was the last straw. We'd been good friends until then, but after that, she never seemed cordial again."

Miller nodded. "Yes, when they get as old as Betsy, without any family of their own, they get queer. Never knew it to fail. She probably clung to you as her last friend, and when you left her—well, the whole force of her loneliness just bumped her off. Too bad, but you certainly cannot be blamed. Everybody has to live his own life in this world. And just because Betsy made a bad choice, she'd no right to make you pay for it."

Barbara sighed. March came in with blusterings and clouds of dust. The city shivered and braced its shoulders and prayed for spring to come. And the street sweepers struggled to clear the pavements of the slime left by the winter's snows.

One Saturday in March, Barbara came into the office with a dull headache. The air outside was soft between gusts, and the green grocers were beginning to put new radishes and tender lettuce in their windows.

Barbara sat at her desk, head in hands, thinking of nothing. The office boy brought in the mail and jumped at her, laughing to see her start. But she looked at him, without her usual ready smile, and he left the room hastily.

Barbara opened her mail. It contained nothing but bills and public sheets. She threw it in a basket and rose, reaching for her hat and coat. It was nearly noon.

In the street outside, she walked slowly. There was a little tea room around the corner that she sometimes visited. Here she found a table in a dark corner and ordered salad and sandwiches. The tea room had not yet begun to fill up, and Barbara had the corner to herself.

The waitress brought a dainty tray and set the dishes before Barbara. She began to eat, with effort. The salad looked delicious but she pushed it away. The sandwiches met the same fate.

Only the coffee seemed to satisfy her. Women began to come into the shop in groups. Some of them wore flowers and all of them were dressed according to last spring modes. It was not a shop extensively patronized by working women.

The soft murmur of cultivated voices began, and waitresses began to scurry silently about with trays of delicately tempting food.

Barbara looked about her, at the pretty clothes. She herself was still wearing a winter hat. She rose hastily, paid her bill and fled.

The spell of spring had touched the streets. Nobody seemed to be going anywhere especially, and groups formed on the street corners to talk. Barbara wandered on alone, her head still throbbing dully.

At the corner of Forty-eight street she did not turn toward the office.

At the corner of the street, Barbara found a flower stand, banked with hyacinths in pots and narcissus and daffodils in vases. The lavenders and pale yellows shone against the dull grays of the street.

Barbara stopped a moment to look at the flowers. The hyacinths were as fragrant as those that bloomed long ago beneath the railing of her mother's front porch in Neenah.

"How much for the hyacinths?" she said to the man in charge of the stand.

"Letta ones feefta cents; beega ones dollar apiece."

Barbara selected a hyacinth with two pink spikes of blossoms. "Wrap this up, please." The man went away to get paper.

Someone close beside Barbara called her name, breathlessly. Barbara looked up.

"Why, Barbara dear?" It was Fanny McDermott. "Why, how ill you look, Babs?"

Barbara stammered slightly, furious with herself for feeling embarrassed. "I'm not ill, Fanny. It's good to see you."

"Good! I'm tickled silly. How long have you been in New York. Dad didn't tell me."

"Perhaps he thought it wouldn't matter to you." Barbara stopped short, biting her lips. Fanny put her hand on Barbara's shoulder.

"He knew better than that, Babs," she said, softly. Then, with increased sayety, "Come on out home with me now and stay for dinner. I'm dying for you to see my cute place."

Barbara glanced at Fanny's left hand. Fanny was not wearing a wedding ring. She had not spoken of Jerome.

"Why, yes, Fanny. I'd like to. I was wondering what to do with a dull Saturday afternoon. Where do you live?"

Fanny dimpled. "On Riverside drive. Isn't that gorgeous? It's just a little bird cage of a kitchenette, but so cute, all ivory and blue. And everything electric and easy to work with. You'll never believe I'm a good housekeeper, will you?"

Barbara laughed. "I'll believe it when I see you at work," she said. They caught a Riverside bus on Fifth avenue and took seats on top. Fanny chattered incessantly, asking questions about Barbara's work and about friends they had in common. Barbara answered quietly. No mention of their last meeting was made.

Central Park was flaunting a few banners of young greenery. A warm spicy spring smell from the earth greeted them as the bus lumbered past the park.

At 110th street Fanny rang the bell. "This is our corner," she said to Barbara.

The apartment was all that Fanny had said. Barbara glanced round its sunny living room. It was furnished with old walnut and costly Chinese rugs.

Fanny buzzed about in the tiny kitchen, calling to Barbara to come out and sit by her. She had slipped into a huge apron and was scrubbing potatoes with a vegetable brush.

The preparations for dinner went on, while Fanny and Barbara talked. They could see the Hudson river from the kitchen window. The fleet was in the river.

"There's a big gray battleship that is my special pet," said Fanny. "I like to lie on the sofa in the other room and look at it and pretend I'm the captain. And when it goes away I don't feel right at all till it comes back." She giggled childishly. The doorbell rang. "Dear me," cried Fanny, "that's Jerome. You let him in, will you, Barbara? My hands are all wet."

Swiftly soaring nation-wide Nash sales swept February—although the shortest month of the year—into high position as——the biggest single month of production on Nash cars, alone, in the entire history of the company.

And Ajax Six sales racing on ahead pushed February Ajax business far beyond the biggest previous month since this brilliant new Nash-built success was introduced.

And the reason for this record-breaking Nash-Ajax success is just this—record-breaking QUALITY plus record-breaking VALUE.

TRAFFIC BUREAU ADDED TO SERVICE BY CIVIC CHAMBER

Chamber of Commerce Directors Decide to Establish Community Traffic Section

A full time traffic bureau will be established at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. It was decided at a meeting of the board of directors Wednesday noon at the Conway Hotel. There has been a part time traffic department at the local chamber for some time, but this was maintained by various transportation agencies and not by the chamber of commerce itself. Free office space was given to the traffic department at the chamber of commerce rooms for the service it gave to the community.

Roy G. Wort was the general traffic manager and from now on will be employed in this capacity by the chamber of commerce. The traffic service rendered by Mr. Wort has been of great value to hundreds of citizens of Appleton, to transportation agencies and shippers. It was pointed out at the directors meeting and it was therefore thought advisable to make this service a strictly community affair by linking it up with the chamber of commerce activities. The addition of the traffic department gives the local chamber two bureaus—credit and traffic.

Majors of the four battalions in the annual membership campaign March 11 to 13 selected the colors of their battalions at the meeting. Major Joseph Koffend's battalion will wear pink badges, the workers under the command of R. K. Wolter have chosen white as their standard; the battalion headed by Walter Joyce will wear the green and Dr. H. K. Prati's battalion will wear orange insignia. Twenty-six men have already volunteered their services in the membership drive.

AWAIT OPINION ON POOR AID QUESTION

The question of whether a mother of several children, receiving mothers pension from one county can gain a new legal settlement for the purpose of securing aid from county into which she had moved and lived for at least a year, while still receiving mothers pension from the first county, submitted to the state attorney general's office by John A. Landorf, district attorney, was misunderstood at Madison with the result that the local attorney is asking for a second opinion on the matter. The opinion from John J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, did not answer the question asked. The second answer is not expected for some time as Mr. Messerschmidt is out of the state engaged in an important litigation.

The particular case to which the attorney general's opinion will apply is that of a former Waupaca woman who now resides in the town of Deer Creek. She still is alleged to be drawing mother's pension from the neighboring county and she recently applied for poor aid in this county. Supervisor Anton McClone of Deer Creek brought the question up at the February session of the county board and it was referred to the district attorney for an opinion.

O'Brien Boy Thin and Pale

In a Little Over Two Months Gained Eleven Pounds

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that. But it's vile, horrible stuff to take, and is apt to upset any stomach, so now doctors are prescribing and wise parents are buying McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—sugar coated, and as easy to take as candy.

The son of George G. O'Brien of Mahwah, N. J., was thin and pale and did not get enough nourishment from his food. In a little over two months, he gained eleven and one-half pounds, and feels and looks one hundred per cent better.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—50 tablets 50 cents at Schintz Bros. Co. or any druggist in America. Thousands of boxes sold daily.

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission of Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

FRIDAY
The Light of Truth
Read Jn. 8:31-41. Text: 8:32.
And the truth shall make you free.
Meditation—Dare we believe him in his promise that the truth and truth alone can make us free? By carelessness or wrong doing we get into a tight place and imagine a he will get us out. Jesus dared to speak and act the truth and was free, though he died for the truth. The Pharisees were indignant at his suggestion that they were bondmen, did they not have Abraham for Father? Every man must make his own liberty, no matter how free his forebears. "Every one that committeth sin is bondservant of sin. If a man abide in Christ—he shall know what is true and obeying shall be free."

"I ascended the mountains, and went down the valleys, I visited the manufactories, the commercial markets and emporiums of trade. I entered their judicial courts and legislative halls, but I sought everywhere in vain until I entered the church. It was there as I listened to the soul equalizing and soul elevating principles of the Gospel of Christ as they fell from Sabbath to Sabbath upon the masses of the people that I learned why America was great and free."

Prayer—O Thou who art the Truth we would dare to believe in truth no matter how promising falsehood may seem. O Thou who didst bring our exiled fathers across the sea, may we keep intact our inherited liberties, let us never, we pray Thee, endanger them by tolerated lies. Amen.

SEEK NEW BASIS FOR COMPARING BADGER CITIES

Five Year Community Study Program Is Considered by Social Work Conference

If Appleton ever enters another Better Cities contest in Wisconsin, it will be judged on a more scientific basis and probably might have a better chance of winning first place than in the contest from which it emerged last fall as winner of the third prize of the upper division of cities.

Another contest is contemplated by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work which engineered the last one, but it probably will not take place until after five years at least.

In fact the contest conducted in 1924 and 1925 was regarded only as a starter in the movement for community development. It is felt that an opportunity for real advance will be lost if the work is not continued.

5-YEAR PROGRAM

To that end the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work has committed itself to a five-year program of refining and perfecting the set of standards formulated and used for testing community efficiency in the recent contest. The conference desires an instrument of community tests that will be absolutely scientifically accurate as well as capable of being readily understood by the average lay citizen.

The cost of formulating such standards, however, is considered beyond the power of the conference to finance. It is recommended for financial support to some fund or foundation within whose province such work lies, and it is understood that several of the eastern philanthropists are already interested in the project. A possibility of using the Wisconsin Better Cities contest is being considered.

The last contest divided Wisconsin cities in two groups, those with a population of 2,000 to 10,000 and those with a population of 10,000 to 50,000. The conference officers are convinced that this division leaves too wide a disparity in population, ways and problems involved for successful comparison. There were some who believed that Appleton was too small a city to be compared with cities like Kenosha, and that it would be just as unfair as comparing a small city like Seymour with Appleton. All efforts at community competition in the future will be in more restricted groups.

The contemplated program proposes a budget of $18,500 a year for about five years. The project would be under the control of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, with the general secretary in charge of carrying out the policies of the board of directors.

APPLETON VETS HIT TRENCHES EIGHT YRS. AGO

Sunday, March 7, will be the eighth anniversary of the day when Appleton soldiers in the Rainbow division first entered the trenches in France. This Appleton unit was Co. A, 150th Machine Gun battalion during the war. The local company with one from Oshkosh and one from Fond du Lac were chosen to represent Wisconsin in the Rainbow division.

These three Wisconsin units made up the 150th Machine battalion when it was first commanded by a Major Hall of Oconto. Lothar Graef was captain of the Appleton company when it left Appleton. Later Graef was promoted to major and placed in command of the battalion. The outfit got into the fighting line in the Lunerville sector of France.

The 11,000 miles of main line and average load for their freight trains, branches comprising the entire system, are divided into 30 divisions ranging from 150 to 400 miles each, according to density of traffic. The freight handled last year by the Musselshell division in Montana was equal to moving about 800,000,000 tons a distance of one mile.

Only STEEL could meet a test like this!

A Dodge Brothers Motor Car . . . A speeding truck racing down hill and out of control . . . A collision . . .

Take one look at this photograph. It is not pretty, to be sure, but it will convince any sensible man that all steel construction is the only safe construction for a motor car body.

That is why Dodge Brothers introduced the all steel body more than eleven years ago, and this year greatly improved and perfected it.

In fact, Dodge Brothers are convinced that the day is not far off when wooden motor car bodies will be a curiosity. People will shudder at the thought of having ridden in them and will thank Dodge Brothers for the greater safety, durability—and beauty, too—of all steel construction.

A steel body will stand up under impacts that would crush the average body to bits. Steel cannot splinter. Steel cannot burn. Steel is an armor of protection on the crowded, hurrying highway.

Outwardly, nearly all types of bodies appear to be all steel. In reality, however, most of them are simply frames of wood covered by a metal shell.

Dodge Brothers Motor Car bodies are steel through and through—steel reinforced by steel—buttressed and braced by steel—even the frames and running boards are steel.

And slender, stronger steel corner posts replace the customary bulky posts of wood, affording full, unhampered driving vision on all sides—a safety feature of the first importance!

Travel in safety! Powerful, quick-action brakes, a chassis world-famous for its sturdiness, and a body of steel—these explain the enviable reputation for safety enjoyed by Dodge Brothers Motor Car—and the enviable feeling of safety enjoyed by those who drive it.

The car will continue to be a "four." No reasoning buyer will be distracted from the issue of QUALITY by mere CYLINDER propaganda.

The Land of Molasses

ABOUT one-hundred and fifty years ago, the early settlers of Louisiana and Mississippi began making molasses.

Fine molasses it was too, and because they shipped it from the port of New Orleans, it became known throughout "the states" and the world, as "New Orleans" molasses.

Molasses from New Orleans is still the best the world produces, and that is why we use it exclusively in Quality Cookies.

Nick Tells a Story
"And now," said Blue Whiskers to Nick, when he had finished with his eyes, "if you can tell me a story as funny as your sister's I shall not only forgive everything, but I may be able to help you to find the blue cherry."

"Oh, then you do know where the blue cherry is?" cried Nick.
"Not exactly," said Blue Whiskers, "but there are things in the bylaws and constitution that may lead to its discovery. Please commence."

"Jude looked even more anxious than he had before, and kept taking his note book out of his pocket and putting it back again."

"But he needn't have worried because Nick started right off to tell his story."

"Once upon a time there was a baby," he said, "that was very new."

"I know what you're talking about," said Blue Whiskers, "but I want him to grow fast."

"The baby's mother, well, feed him on elephant milk."

"So they fed him on elephant milk and he gained and gained and gained. In one week he had gained twenty pounds, in two weeks he had gained forty pounds, in three weeks he had gained sixty pounds."

"You'd think that by that time he'd be big enough, but he wasn't, for his mother kept right on feeding him elephant milk."

"I suppose they wanted to put him in a circus," said Blue Whiskers.
"That was just it," nodded Nick. "His mother wanted to put him in a circus when he was bigger."

"So she kept right on feeding him elephant milk and every week he kept on getting fatter. It wasn't long until he was PERFECTLY ENORMOUS!"

"I should say so," said Blue Whiskers. "Whose baby was it? Anyone I ever heard of?"

"I don't know," said Nick. "It was the elephant's baby."

At this not only Blue Whiskers, but Jude and the shaggy bear and all the pigs in the palace roared so with laughter, that the crabs and lobsters and cod-fish in the moat put their claws and their fins in their ears in alarm.

"My, my," they remarked in wonder. "Something had happened to our old Blue Whiskers into such a good humor. He is shouting at the top of his lungs!"

Inside the palace Blue Whiskers was saying, "I haven't laughed so hard since the river ran uphill. So now I shall try to help you to find the blue cherry I suppose. The tree that bore the blue cherry was lost about a hundred years ago. Some-one dug it up one dark night and ran off with it. In the morning there was nothing left but a hole in the ground."

"Did the tree have many blue cherries on it?" asked Nancy.
"Only one each year," said Blue Whiskers. "All the others were red. But the blue cherry was made, and much sought after. Paddy-foot, being one of the bylaws and the constitution again."

So Paddy-foot, the bear, went out to the pantry and dug down in the sugar barrel and got the bylaws and the constitution and brought them in.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUESS. QUISSE, CARE THE SECRET DRAWER—CONTINUED

"Silly," asked Jack suddenly, "were you ever importuned by a young, would-be flapper to dance? If you have, you will probably sympathize with me. Foolish. I thought if I danced that I would not have to talk. The moment, however, that I got on the floor I grew panicky. I kept looking about to see if anyone who knew you or me was there, to see me, Leslie. I swear to you, it was all innocent enough, but I could not help thinking what would happen if anyone saw me dancing with this little stenographer. I felt sorry for myself. I felt sorry for the girl. I knew I had again turned one of my fifty-seven kind of animosity on tap. I quickly took the girl back to the table during the first intermission and waited impatiently until she had finished her dinner, and then muttering that I had to get home, we started for the city."

"More and more it was borne upon me that perhaps I was the bigger fool where women—all women—were concerned, on the face of the earth. I began to turn up the road, still thinking only of getting the silly little girl by the side of me home and getting to you. Fortunately, Jack slowed down considerably as your face came up before me, when all at once, one of those smart remarks that are always driven by one of those youngsters who has one hand on the wheel and the other arm around a girl, swung in from a side street."

"There was a crash! I swear to you, Leslie, that even at that moment I didn't think of anything but of saving you from reading in the morning papers that I had been joy-riding with one of my stenographers. I think I went a little out of my mind. It was not for myself, but for you."

"Perhaps you all know. I am a very selfish man, and now that I am making an open confession, I may as well say that I didn't think anything about the occupants of that other car and very little about the occupants of my own car. I was just thinking about my wife."

"They say that a man reviews his whole life in the moment, he loses consciousness when drowning. In that moment, before my foot came down hard on the accelerator, I saw how foolishly unkind I had been to you, how unreasonably I had been acting. Blinded, I rushed away, adding pusillanimous cowardice to my other unaccountable action."

"I didn't get very far. I was overtaken by the cops, and you know the rest."

"What became of Maggie Stimpson?" asked Sally.
John started, and looked at her in a dazed fashion. I knew he had forgotten she was there.

"I don't know what became of her," he said, helplessly.
"I sent her home in a taxi," said Syd, crisply.

"Good old Syd," murmured Jack. Syd responded with a cynical smile, while I who was looking at him, did not understand. It seemed to me that that smile meant, "Don't thank me, I was not doing it for you."

BLUES CLOSE SEASON TONIGHT AGAINST CARROLL

LAWRENCE IS AFTER WIN TO EVEN ACCOUNT

Outcome of Game Will Have No Effect on Standing in Conference

Humble the Pioneers! With the day from this cry still ringing in their ears, Coach A. C. Denny's basketball representatives of Lawrence college will take their final curtain call for the season at the Armory Friday night against the strong Carroll college quintet of Waukesha.

Although the outcome of the game has no significance as far as the standing of Lawrence in the Midwest conference is concerned, the Blues having completed their conference schedule against Beloit last Tuesday, the Dennymen are determined to turn back the visitors.

Not only would such a feat close a successful season, but it would place the two fives on equal terms. The Pioneers were the victors in the first meeting with Lawrence this season on the Waukesha floor by virtue of a wild first half and the defeat still smartens in the hearts of the Blue basketballers.

The final practice session of the season was held Thursday afternoon. It consisted of a light workout and rounded out a week of stiff drill.

The starting lineup will see Ashman at center and Bries and Grove at guards. The call for the forward berths probably rests between Zussman, Heideman and Courtney.

The game will be preceded with a preliminary battle between the Appleton and Fond du Lac Vocational school fives at 7:30. The Fondy aggregation defeated the local youths 10-6 in a rough game on the former's floor earlier in the season and the Appleton team is primed to reserve the decision this time.

Almost as much interest centers about the Cornell-Coe game as over the outcome of the former battle rests the final position of Lawrence in the Midwest conference standings. Lawrence and Cornell have both lost only one game this season, but Carroll has played three more conference games and is consequently ahead of the Dennymen in the per centage column. If Coe defeats Cornell, Cornell would be catapulted from first place into a tie with Coe for second, and Lawrence would retrace the top of the list.

LAWRENCE PUGS WILL TANGLE SATURDAY

Lawrence pugilists will line up Saturday afternoon in the college gymnasium for the semi-finals of the boxing tournament. Several basketball men are expected to don the gloves and enter, and close bouts are promised.

Nearly 50 men will enter the elimination series. There will be eight classes and six men entered in each class. Elimination bouts will narrow the contenders down to two in each class, and these two victors Athletic Director Denney will retain on his permanent squad.

With the last floor game of the season out of the way Friday night, Coach Denny's basketballers will be free to enter. Zussman, Grove, and Clark of the varsity squad have already signified their intentions of entering, and Courtney will probably join the battlers.

All the bouts will be decision affairs, and drawing for partners and weighing in will precede the matches.

GREEKS WILL MEET IN FREE THROW CONTEST

With the Greek basketball league off the slate, fraternity cagers are turning their attention to the foul-throwing contest which will be tossed off Saturday afternoon in Alexander gymnasium. Last week David "Speed" Johnson of Appleton college frosh, won the intra-mural foul-throwing contest, netting 19 out of 25 chances, and his lining up with the Beta quartet makes them a formidable contender for the championship.

Each fraternity will be represented by four men, and each man will have 25 chances, or 100 throws for each team. The team netting the highest per cent will be given the championship and 20 points toward the permanent trophy granted at the end of the year to the fraternity with the most points.

The second place team will be allowed 12½ points, and third place 8 1-2 points.

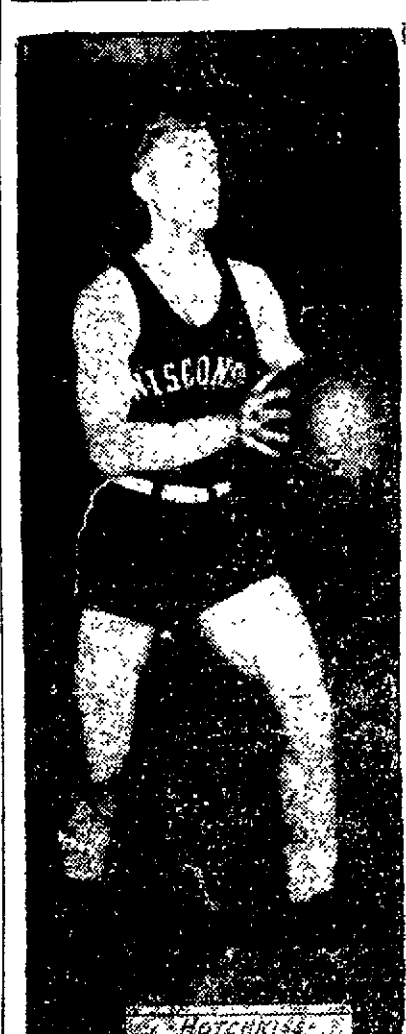

PLAN JUNIOR SWIM MEET WITH FOND DU LAC

A junior swimming meet between the Appleton and Fond du Lac "Y" teams will be held here Saturday evening. A. P. Jensen, physical director, announced Friday. The meet was to have been held last week in connection with the Lawrence-Fond du Lac swim but because of the Appleton-Neenah high school basketball game, officials agreed to postpone the junior events. The junior teams of both institutions are composed of boys belonging to the Y. M. C. A.

The program will include an 80 yard relay, four boys to the team, 20 yard dash, fancy diving (20 required and four optional), four yard breast stroke, 100 yard free style, plunge for distance and 20 yard back stroke.

The Appleton team includes Robert Bomer, Robert Neeler, Mark Callin, Jr., Robert Jones, and Culbert Egan.

Oshkosh Girl Eliminated in Second Round of Florida Golf Meet

St. Augustine, Fla.—(P)—Miss Dorothy Campbell Hurd, former women's champion, went down to defeat here Thursday in the second round of the Florida east coast women's championship, beaten one up by Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago.

Miss Bernice Wall, Wisconsin state champion, was beaten on the twentieth hole by another Wisconsin player, Miss Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee.

Miss Glenn Collett, national champion, won over Miss Helen Fayson, of Portland, Maine, 5 and 4 and will meet Miss Hadfield Friday in the semi-finals.

Miss Hadfield lost to Miss Collett in the final round of the championship last year.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, 17-year-old star from Chicago, was victorious over Mrs. Stewart Hanly, Detroit, 6-5.

Miss Van Wie and Miss Klotz will oppose each other Saturday in the other semifinal.

Miss Klotz was three down with 5 to play against Mrs. Hurd but she squared in the match by sinking long putts on the fourteenth, fifteenth, and sixteenth greens. She won on the eighteenth when Mrs. Hurd missed a three footer.

Miss Wall was 4 down at the turn to Miss Hadfield but she came back in 39 and square the match on the eighteenth. She lost on the second extra hole when her approach shot was sliced into a trap.

OSBORNE GIVEN FOUR PLACES ON ALL-AMERICAN

Harold Osborne, former Illinois star athlete, has been accorded four places on the A. A. U. All-America track and field team for 1925. He placed in the running and standing high jumps, standing broad jump and decathlon.

Madison—One of the brightest spots in the play of the University of Wisconsin basketball midgets has been the consistent performance of George Hotchkiss. The well-built youngster has been one of the strongest factors in the Badger offense besides playing a powerful defensive game practically all season. Only a sophomore, Hotchkiss has taken to the Meanwell style of play and won a berth as a regular forward from the very first game.

Hotchkiss hails from Oshkosh where, as a member of the high school team, he was a unanimous choice of all-state forward. His play in the tournament, despite a bad knee in the last three games was one of the real brilliant features. His offensive powers at that time made him the highest scorer of his team and third ranking in the tourney.

Hotchkiss has one quality that is at all times necessary for a conference player. That quality is fight and staying power. His exhibitions throughout the season were full of these two mighty qualities and mark him as a candidate who is always welcome and almost sure of a regular berth on the Badger varsity. George needs only height to be one of the greatest forwards to ever wear the Cardinal under Meanwell.

LIEB CONSIDERS BADGERS' OFFER

Notre Dame Coach May Go to Wisconsin to Help George Little

South Bend, Ind.—(P)—Tom Lieb, assistant football and track coach at Notre Dame, said Thursday he had under consideration an offer of the position as football line coach and head track coach at the University of Wisconsin. Lieb said he would confer Friday with George Little, athletic director at Madison, Wis.

George Little, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, Thursday confirmed the report that Lieb is under consideration for the position. Director Little said that in event Lieb joins the Badger staff, he would assist particularly in coaching the football, track and hockey teams. Lieb and possibly Knute Rockne, head coach at Notre Dame will accompany the Notre Dame track team when it comes here Friday for a dual meet with Wisconsin.

Tonight's Games
Fond du Lac at Manitowish.
Appleton at E. Green Bay.
W. Green Bay at Marinette.

Thanks to a made-to-order schedule, the valley conference basketball championship will be decided tonight when Fond du Lac and Manitowish tangle in the Shipbuilders' own back yard. The truth-men are now on the top of the heap but a win for Johns & Co. will give them the title position.

Although Fondy is playing away from home, the Cardinal five is deserving of a slight edge. Manitowish has been in a slump for the past two weeks, having suffered reversals at the hands of Sheboygan and Two Rivers but, of course the Shipbuilders may come back and play a stellar brand of ball.

If West Green Bay succeeds in knocking off Marinette in Friday's argument, the Bay Purple quintet will be tied with the Northerners in the percentage column. Coach Johnson's aggregation hasn't done anything since they beat Green Bay East and it wouldn't be surprising if West scored a win.

The Mac-men from Appleton High will bring their Little Eight season to a close by invading the Bay for a tilt with the Hilltoppers. A week ago, this fray looked like soft picking for the College City crew but the red and white uncorked a surprising lot of form in their fracas with West.

Kaukauna is all steamed up over the banning of Gonyo captain of the Electric City basketball team and there are a few individuals in this part of the valley who would be sure winners of an unpopular contest if the students at the high school had a chance to register their ballots.

A young army of pin busters from the lake shore sector will attack the maples in the State K. of C. bowling tournament in Green Bay over the weekend. According to the schedule,

MACMEN DEPART FOR GAME WITH EAST GREEN BAY

End Week of Intensive Drill With Light Workout on Thursday

Coach John McAuliffe and eight of his high school basketball players left for Green Bay Friday afternoon for their final conference game of the season against the east side high school representatives of that city in the evening. Those who accompanied the coach are Frank and Al Cookson, Robert Ashman, Orville Strutz, Dan Steinberg, Norbert Pfefferle, Carl Voecks and McGinnis.

Coach McAuliffe had not decided Friday who he would start against the East Bay squad, although all eight youths will no doubt be given an opportunity to display their talent. McGinnis, reserve forward, will give a splendid exhibition in the game against Neenah last Saturday, will probably receive another call, especially if either of the starting forwards appear "off form."

The choice for forwards will rest between the two Cookson brothers and Strutz. Al Cookson may also see action at center, although Ashman will start. Pfefferle and Voecks will undoubtedly start at guards, with Steinberg, who has shown rapid improvement of late, ready for the call at any stage of the game.

The Orange cagers rounded out a week of intensive practice Thursday evening with a light workout. Both the offensive and defensive departments of the game have come in for attention and the team appears to be working in a smooth manner.

Appleton must win the battle to keep from dropping under West Green Bay in the standings of the conference as the Purple and White five is only a half game behind the Orange.

Following the tilt Friday night, the Macmen will settle down to another week's grind in preparation for the district tournament here next week.

SINGLES PIN TOURNEY STARTS AT OLYMPIC

A. Kline of the Olympic alleys declared Thursday that the singles bowling tournament which he announced would be conducted at his alleys from March 15 to April 10 will start Friday March 5, and end April 10. The entry fee of $1 will include bowling. A doubles and threes tourney will be held at the same time.

Winner of the singles tournament will be awarded a diamond medal valued at $25, according to Mr. Kline.

School teachers under the Glamorgan County Council, England, must be able to teach Welsh by 1927.

maple smashers from Sheboygan, Manitowish, Two Rivers, Port Washington, Clintonville, and Francis Creek will perform.

Dame Rumer has it that Tom Johnson, Marinette's great football coach, will not return to the purple and white institution. For several years, it has been hinted that Johnson would go elsewhere but this time out, reports have it that Johnson has practically closed up for a college job.

Portemps, who placed Sturgeon Bay High on the baseball map in 1924, left today to join the Milwaukee Brewers in their spring training camp at Hot Springs, Ark. Portemps is a lanky right hander with plenty of smoke, and if given a square chance, may win a berth with Otto Borchert's outfit.

Ed. Van Dervoort, Lansing, Mich., former Michigan University football star signed a one-year contract here Wednesday as Director of athletics of Menominee schools, and will take charge in September this year. He succeeds Guy V. Houston, who recently resigned.

The Columbus Club five of Green Bay will face an acid test on Sunday when they lock horns with the New York Nationals. The Easterners have been winning nearly all their games in this state but the Bay quintet is being keyed up to rife fray and they hope to turn back the "Broadway" attack.

With Kaukauna out of the Appleton district tourney, it looked like a free-for-all with West Green Bay, Menasha and Appleton having the edge. Clintonville may cause some trouble. West De Pere has played some good basketball while Kiel, New London and Marion are credited with a number of victories.

Neenah and Menasha have it out again tonight in a basketball argument. The game will be played in the S. A. Cooke armory. The game is expected to attract about 1,500 eager fans. Neenah won from the Pails several weeks ago but this time out the Calmer-men are looking for revenge with a big "R."

Coach Iverson of Sheboygan has booked the Marquette Preps for a game in the Chair City Saturday night with his high school team. Marquette has a record of wins about a mile long on the basketball court this season and Sheboygan will have to be on its toes to bring home the belt.

TWO GREAT HITTERS DIDN'T COST MUCH

This is the car of fancy prices for ball players. Any minor league star who brings less than $50,000 is in the picnic class. Most of the athletes, who merely show promise, are knocked down at from $10,000 to $20,000.

There are in the major leagues a score of players who have cost from $50,000 to twice that amount and none have delivered in proportion to the amount expended.

The college players are past masters at frenzied finance. When some college star signs up, he usually gets anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000, according to how badly he is sought and generally demands a two-year contract at a fat salary.

In striking contrast, take the cases of the two outstanding batters of the majors, Ty Cobb and Rogers Hornsby. Ty Cobb cost $700, Hornsby $200 less. No wonder the magnates pine for the good old days.

LUTHERANS WILL ATTEND PIN MEET

Nine Appleton Teams Will Roll in State Tourney at Racine

Five men teams and four women teams from Appleton will roll in the annual tournament of the Wisconsin Lutheran bowling association at Racine April 15 to May 20. The local squads will appear on the Racine drives on April 26 or May 16 the exact date of which will be announced shortly by the tournament secretary.

Appleton representatives at the meet will be Schabo's Meat Cutters, A. A. 1, Bowling club, Behnke's Clothes, A. A. 1, Boosters, Mount Oliver, Branch, Wichman Grocers, A. A. 1, Girls, Sunshine Girls and Bright Stars.

Entries for the affair close March 20, and the dates on which teams will bowl will be arranged in the order of the entries as filed. The association is endeavoring to give distant bowlers first choice of Sunday dates wherever possible. Oshkosh, Appleton, Sheboygan and Manitowish bowlers have already filed their blanks.

The executive board has secured an excursion railroad rate of five and a half for the round trip to Racine for all Lutheran bowlers who make their entries, and secure credentials from their officers.

Members of the Aid Association for Lutherans Bowling club will observe the third anniversary of the organization at the club rooms Sunday. From 400 to 500 persons are expected to be present, according to Walter Voecks, president. A banquet will be given, starting at 5 o'clock, and arrangements will be made to receive a radio concert during the meal. After dinner talks will be given by Herman Schulte, John Behnke and Robert Schultz. Mrs. W. C. Beiling is chairman of arrangements.

128 CAGE TEAMS ENTER MEETS IN STATE NEXT WEEK

Winners Will Represent District at Tourney at Madison

Marinette—(P)—High school basketball occupies the center of the athletic stage in Wisconsin next week when 128 teams selected upon the basis of their showing this season, swing into action in 16 district basketball tournaments.

Selections of the eight high schools contesting in six of the tournaments have been made, and the majority of the entrants for the others have been decided upon definitely. Elimination games to pick several participants have been ordered this week.

HELP REDUCE TAXES

Millions of people will be united in a concerted nation-wide effort to reduce and eliminate unnecessary taxation if the goal of a group already formed is reached, according to Jacob Pfeiffer, leader of the movement.

The project is being fostered by The Taxpayers' Union, which is endorsed by many powerful business and industrial leaders of the country.

"It is a matter of urgent national requirement," General H. M. Lord, Director of the Federal Bureau of the Budget of Washington, declared in a letter endorsing the movement.

"We have on the one hand a material reduction in Federal taxation and on the other hand, as I understand it, a menacing increase in state and local taxation," said General Lord.

"With this situation in mind I can conceive of no work essential today than that directed to lightening state and local taxes. Four years ago the cost of government was divided approximately 60 per cent Federal government and 40 per cent State and local government.

"In the short span of four years this ratio of governmental cost has been more than reversed, standing today at approximately 28 per cent Federal government and 72 per cent state and local government. This is a startling change of conditions," the budget director said.

Mr. Pfeiffer, who is president of The Miller Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, has outlined the organization's aims before Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, Vice President Charles G. Dawes and other high government officials. Mr. Louis J. Tabor, Master of the National Grange, has endorsed the plan.

Other events Saturday include dub league games, foul-throwing contests, and boxing semi-finals.

WATER BOARD DISCUSSES BUILDING NEW RESERVOIR

Neenah—A new standpipe or tank for storing water for city purposes is being discussed by the water commission and committee on waterworks of the city council. It is proposed to erect the tank on city property at the corner of First-ave and Fairview-ave, close to where the city has recently opened a new well. The intention of the board to extend a feed line from the present waterworks station to the new tank has been abandoned for the reason that the cost of digging and blasting through several hundred feet of solid rock would be greater than the cost of the tank. A pumping station is proposed at the new location to fill the tank.
